

Worlds End Launch Events - Are Sell Outs

Written by Alkamos - The Ancient Scribe

Saturday, 07 January 2012 12:59 - Last Updated Monday, 16 January 2012 11:32

The wonderfully successful launches in Malta and here in the UK, where we saw all the launch books sell out, bodes well for the future of the graphic novel series. The UK ones lasted for only an hour and half before they sold out.

Tim has received a great many wonderful emails and comments on the social networks in praise of the story and art and also the fantastic quality of the printing and binding.

He is presently writing the final draft for Worlds End – Volume 2 – A Hard Reign's Gonna Fall.

Look for more updates on the progress of the new book here soon.